

This is in response to an appeal by KLOVE radio station to remain intact in their present broadcasting arena. Last year, my son was stationed in Baghdad, Iraq. It was the positive songs and messages that this radio station airs that gave me strength as soldiers from my city came home in caskets and as I waited for my son, hoping he would walk off of the plane. There are ample stations with violent and negative messages. Personally I need to have a continuous connection to this uplifting and positive message which KLOVE radio broadcasts. Thank you.
